Long Ago

As long ago as 1858, Dr. Worthingon's famous Cholera and Diarrhea Medicine was known as a specific for cholera, cramps, diarrhea, dysentery, summer complaints and the like. It can be carried in the pocket. Price, 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

Life's Mockeries

Among the many sad phases of this life is the bitter experience which in waking up from delicious dreams of love and friendship, and the finding out that what we believe to be purest affecting with this cloud of witnesses that I purely sale. tion was only a sham; the gold wash is worn away by use and the unsightly brass shows itself beneath. What we believed to be a gem of purest ray serene, proves only a coarse imitation. It is the use of these which discovers worth or worthlessness. When the sky of prosperity shines cloudlessly above us, friends find it a pleasant and delightful recreation to swarm about us and bask in the warmth of our good fortune. It is sweet to be flattered and there are few who can turn deaf cars to the song of the siren. But let the sky cloud over with some storm of disaster, ome upheaval of the deep waters of affliction, and how tew of the summer lends are found to cheer the dark and onely period. Hearts break and go to the grave every day from the anguish of neglect, from the pain of feeling that they are no longer needed. To be dropped out of some familiar and long accustomed place without so much as a regret, is to some natures the keenest of cruelties, to feel that what they had deemed valuable and worthy services can be replaced so easily, is death to the sensitive soul. Then, too, the mockery of mourning. There are costly and showy funeral pageants every day over those who might have lived and been happy with one-half the delicate attention in life.

Mr. John Armstrong, Vanceburg, Ky.,says: "Brown's Iron Bitters completely cured me of dyspepsia.

"But have you noticed the remarkable testimonials of Warner's remedy?" "I have, and confess that they have puzzled and astonished me. The commendations of proprietary medicines usually come from unknown persons, residing in back counties. But I see In our most reputable newspapers the warmest praise of Warner's Safe Cure from College Professors, respectable physicians and other persons of high intelligence and character. To thrust such testimony aside may be professional, but it is unmanly. No physician around from behind the counter to get can forget that valuable additions to our Materia Medica have sprung from chased some bottles of Warner's Sate Cure at a neighboring drug store and analyzed one of them to see if it contained anything poisonous.
